Turtle Women Rising

I, _____, on this day _____, pledge myself to sovereignty in thought, word, and deed.

I pledge to tend to my life energy and health, so my giving is grounded and sustainable.

I pledge myself to the empowerment of all women.

I stand in solidarity with all women —for those that came before us, and the next seven generations.

I pledge to work towards nurturing myself, my spirit, my being.

I pledge to hold myself accountable, responsible, and to make conscious decisions.

I pledge to share what I have learned with my sisters, family, and community.

I pledge to work towards bettering our planet, creating sacred spaces where women gather to speak their truths and stand for change.

I pledge to share this message with those who are ready to give their time and energy, to allow women to connect their spirit with others who are equally committed, nurturing a community grounded in mutual respect.
